Love and Logicism

As Christmas break approaches, a good reminder about boredom...
 “More is not always better. Exciting, entertaining activities are great fun, but wise parents also know that quiet times are just as important.”

*Quote from Love and Logicisms: Wise Words About Kids” by Jim Fay and Charles Fay

Love and Logic Parenting Classes Begin in January!

Previous class members have said...

“Love and Logic is great in that it breaks down strategies for dealing with misbehavior into small easy to do strategies. I also love that you can take it for refreshers, and that it stresses the importance of having a healthy parent/child relationship.”

“This class series has been great in equipping me with practical parenting tips that are easy to implement.”

“It’s a great way to love on your kids while teaching them the skills they need to be successful adults.”
